REGULATIONS OF UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

6C1-4.051 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code: Victim Services for Students on Campus.

(1) The University values the dignity and safety of every individual on campus and encourages alleged victims of violence to report inappropriate behavior to the appropriate university offices, including the University Police and the Crime Victim Advocate. Alleged victims will be treated with dignity and compassion by University personnel and their privacy will be maintained, within the boundaries of the law. Alleged victims will be informed of their options within the criminal process and campus student conduct process, and may be accompanied by an advisor through any student conduct proceeding.

(2) Alleged victims will also be informed of campus and community resources to assist them in overcoming the incident and to proceed with their goals and responsibilities at the University. General campus services available to alleged victims of violence include: personal counseling and medical services; police assistance; and accommodations in academic and residence hall arrangements, when necessary.

(3) Alleged victims of violence where the act of violence is considered a violation or violations of the Student Conduct Code receive specific victim accommodations within the student conduct process. Acts of violence include sexual and physical assault, relationship/domestic violence, and stalking and harassment that include threats of violence.

(4) Alleged victims of violence may choose how to proceed within the student conduct process, although the University can proceed with conduct action without the victim's consent if the alleged behavior put others in reasonable fear of physical harm or created a hostile environment in which others are unable to conduct or participate in University work, education, research or other activities, or otherwise adversely affects the accused student's suitability as a member of the University Community. Alleged victims of violence whose cases are handled by the Office of Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution in a administrative or student conduct committee hearing are given various accommodations in the conduct process. Victim accommodations include:

- (a) Being kept informed of the status of the case throughout the conduct process, including the final outcome of the process.
- (b) Being accompanied by an advisor throughout the conduct process.
- (c) In cases involving sexual assault, with the recommendation of a licensed mental health care provider, the alleged victim can provide hearing testimony from a separate room as long as it does not infringe upon the accused student's rights to question the witness.
- (d) Submitting potential questions to the hearing authority prior to the hearing.
- (e) Submitting a written impact statement to the hearing body after the finding of facts which shall be considered during sanctioning, should the accused student be found responsible for the violation.
- (f) Remaining present as an observer throughout the information gathering portion of the conduct hearing after his/her statement.
- (g) Asking questions of the accused or other witnesses after their statements to the hearing body. These questions must be asked through the panel chair.
